

Learning Journal 23.1.16

This week....We have been looking more closely at the weather and recording the conditions every day. We had some wonderful ice to look at and we watched our volcano erupt with great excitement.

Literacy and Phonics

We are writing brilliant sentences and aiming to become more and more independent with our writing. Nursery pupils are working hard on pencil control and sounds and they know lots of the sounds in their names. We have also been telling stories about our adventures in the tent and planning exciting places to go. Eventually we hope to write our stories down to share with everyone.

Mathematics

This week we have been learning ordinal numbers e.g. first, second, third. Every time we line up we recite our ordinal numbers and practise them.

Help at Home.....Line up toys and decide who is first, second, third and so on. Or have any kind of race and give all finishers a place.

Next Week.....Toasty Tuesday is here again. A slice of toast costs 30p with jam or marmite and all proceeds go to charity.

Other news...Due to the very cold weather on Thursday we had a lovely campfire at the woodland workshop. It kept our hands warm along with our hot chocolate. We thought of some brilliant safety rules for our fire and enjoyed watching the flames and the embers. We also did lots of running around to keep warm and enjoyed the crunchy grass under our feet. We were glad to get back in the warm at school and eat our hot dinners.

We were glad we had collected warm, dry sticks a few weeks ago.

We cleared the leaves from our fire area.

We rolled newspaper into firelighters. It lit with just one match!

Soon we had a lovely blaze and all kept warm.
